THE STORY OF 'RUTHLESS RUTH'

Archibald Oliver inherited 800 acres of the family property when pioneer William passed away in 1888, but it was Archibald's stern wife Ruth, whom he married in 1879, that kept the family business in health while Archibald and his brothers led a more scurrilous lifestyle. Records show grape payments made by 'Kay Brothers' in 1925 to 'Mrs Oliver' whose husband Archibald had long since passed.
